Welcome

Happy New Year, Brisbane Bayside pickleballers and welcome to the January 2026 edition of our club Newsletter!

Well, it seems everyone's New Year's resolution was exactly the same this year: play MORE pickleball! Our weekly evening sessions have been absolutely packed since we kicked off, with courts fuller than a stadium on grand final day. In fact, we've got waiting lists longer than the queue for coffee on a Monday morning – a problem we're absolutely thrilled to have!

The energy and enthusiasm brought to our sessions to kick off 2026 has been absolutely fantastic. Whether you are a seasoned player working on stacking and third shot drops or a newbie still figuring out which end of the paddle to hold, it has been fantastic to see our pickleball community thriving.

As always, our club committee are working hard behind the scenes to accommodate everyone's passion for the game, so stay tuned for new and exciting updates on more opportunities to get you all out on the courts.

There's plenty more exciting news in this month's edition, so please keep reading!

And as always, see you out on the courts...

President's Report

The 2025/26 Christmas holidays have come and gone. The first term of school has begun and February is already upon us.

This year promises to be one of rapid growth for our awesome club. Since the beginning of the year, many of our sessions have reached capacity with many on waiting lists, eager to play.

The numbers at Iona have more than doubled with around fifty members now regularly attending on a Wednesday night. This has presented a logistical nightmare for the hosts. Temporary pickleball courts now need to be chalked up on three tennis courts all of which takes time. More hosts are required to introduce newbies to the game and spend time on skills and drills. Another is required to oversee the format being used to cater for the masses with the card system to divide up the beginners to intermediate and those intermediate to advanced. We ask for those that can arrive early to help setup and all to pack up and store the equipment.

Victoria point has also reached its indoor capacity on a Tuesday night and we are expanding onto the tennis courts outside under lights. This will help reduce waiting times between games and allow hosts to concentrate on introducing newbies to the game outside with the Slinger being used to promote skills and drills. Again, we need more help to setup and pack up.

Many schools and sporting facilities have successfully adopted dual-use courts, demonstrating that tennis, netball and pickleball can coexist seamlessly without compromising the integrity of either sport.

To the Redland Council's credit, it has acknowledged the need and has now permanently marked up pickleball lines on court two at Wellington Point. A practical and meaningful way the council continues to support the community and the game of pickleball. In addition, the council has permanently marked up pickleball courts on the "All Stars" netball courts at the Wellington Point Sports Centre with an Expression of Interest (EOI) to follow over the next couple of months, for clubs to share in a Licence to Occupy (LTO) which can be offered to multiple clubs for the same sports venue and is typically a time-based allocation.

The challengers we face this year are healthy growing pains with the ever-increasing demand for venues and how to implement various session formats.

Enjoy the upcoming year as we explore developing new prospects for this popular and all-inclusive game of pickleball that we all love and enjoy.

New Permanent Lines at Wellington Point

A huge thank you to the Redlands City Council for acknowledging the ever growing popularity of pickleball and marked permanent pickleball courts lines on the second court at the Wellington Point Community facility.

The lines look fantastic and will save a lot of set up time with not having to chalk mark courts before each playing session.

The re-surfacing of the ECG Wood courts (All Stars Netball courts) is also nearing finalisation. The courts are not yet in use, but are looking great.

Australian Masters Cup

The Australian Masters cup is running again in 2026. Our Club shirt order has now been delivered and they are ready for collection.

Across a 10–12-week season, players of all skill levels will battle for ladder positions within their own clubs, building momentum and community as they go. Standout performers in the 50+, 60+, and 70+ age divisions earn the opportunity to advance through to regional, state, and ultimately national events, creating a clear and inspiring pathway for Australia's Masters pickleball community.

More than 57 clubs are participating in this years competition. We have registered our club, so keep a look out for upcoming details on how you can be involved.

Player Feedback Survey

2025 Player Feedback Survey Analysis

The analysis of the 2025 Player Feedback Survey has finally been undertaken – apologies for the delay in getting this done.

We received some fantastic feedback on what we are doing well and where we can improve. This is exactly what the survey is for. This is YOUR club and the club committee needs to know what YOU want in your club.

Over the coming months, the club committee will go through all the information and see where comments, suggestions, constructive feedback can be implemented at the venues and sessions we run.

Thank you again for all those who contributed.

A summary of the analysis will be uploaded to our website and made available to you all.

Coaches Corner

Mastering the First Four Shots of Pickleball

As a coach I often say that rallies are won long before the point gets exciting. The first four shots of pickleball — the serve, return, third shot, and fourth shot — typically decide who controls and ultimately who wins the rally.

Improve these shots, and everything else in your game will start to feel easier.

Let's break them down.

1. Serve Strategy: Depth Is Your Superpower

Yes, getting the serve in is non-negotiable — but once consistency is there, depth becomes king.

A deep serve:

- Pushes your opponent further back
- Gives them less time to move forward
- Buys you time to get ready for the next shot

While aiming for corners and weaker sides can be effective, don't lose sight of the priority: serve deep. A deep serve forces the returner to contact the ball further behind the baseline, delaying their approach to the kitchen. That delay gives the serving team a chance to apply early pressure.

If you're comfortable adding topspin, even better — a hard, deep topspin serve can earn you easy points or set up a strong third shot.

Coaching tip: Don't chase "aces." Chase depth and consistency.

2. Return of Serve: Buy Time, Take Position

The return of serve has one main objective:

Get yourself established at the non-volley zone line.

To do that well:

- Use good footwork to create space and hit the ball out in front
- Focus on depth — a deep return keeps opponents back and buys you time
- Remember: returns don't need to be rockets

If you're finding yourself late getting to the kitchen, don't be afraid to hit a slightly higher, more lofted return. A slower return that lands deep is far more valuable than a fast return that pulls you out of position.

Coaching tip: A great return isn't about pace — it's about positioning.

3. The Third Shot: Read Before You React

After serving, the ball must bounce — and what you do next depends entirely on where your opponents are.

Brisbane Bayside Pickleball Club Monthly Newsletter

January 2026

Before choosing your shot, take a quick look:

If opponents are still moving in or stuck in the transition zone → drive the ball

If both opponents are set at the kitchen → consider a drop

If unsure → drive with purpose, then look to drop the next ball

Driving at a player who is still moving forward applies pressure and often forces a weak reply. If the opponents are already established at the net, a well-executed drop gives you and your partner a chance to work your way in.

Coaching tip: Third shots aren't automatic — they're situational.

4. The Fourth Shot: Apply Pressure Early

By the fourth shot, the returning team should be established at the kitchen line — and that's a powerful position.

From here:

- Look to take the ball out of the air when possible
- If not, create space and take it cleanly off the bounce
- Aim for your opponent's feet to limit their options

- When opponents are staggered (one up, one back), your decision matters:
  - Attack the closer player if you have a ball above the net
  - Push the ball deep to the player who's back if the ball is below net height
- Above all, be ready for the counter. Many third shots come back as drives — and a prepared fourth-shot counter can instantly swing the rally in your favour.

Coaching tip: Expect the drive, prepare the block or counter.

Final Thought

If you focus on improving just these first four shots — serve, return, third, and fourth — you'll notice a big jump in your consistency, confidence, and court control. These fundamentals are what turn good rallies into winning ones.

Keep working on them at club sessions, drills, and social play — and as always, ask one of our more experienced players (or see coach Brian) if you want help refining any part of your game.

See you on the courts!

How 4.0 Players Win Without Hitting Hard

Power is optional. Control is not.

What 4.0 Players Do Differently

1. Win the Kitchen, Not the Baseline

- Move up early
- Hold the non-volley zone
- Force opponents to hit up

2. Smart Shot Selection

- High-percentage dinks
- Safe cross-court rallies
- Attack only on true opportunities

3. Reset Instead of Forcing Power

- Soft blocks under pressure
- Neutralize hard shots with touch
- Turn defense into offense

4. Create Errors, Not Winners

- Consistent depth
- Low net clearance
- Make opponents hit "one more ball"

5. Target Feet & Weak Spots

- Aim at the body, not sidelines
- Exploit backhands
- Jam opponents at the kitchen line

4.0 Mindset

"Win the rally before trying to win the point."

 Placement + Patience + Precision
beats Power at the 4.0 level.

How do I register to play in a Tournament

Once you've found a tournament you would like to attend, head to Pickleball Tournaments (<https://pickleballtournaments.com/>) and set up a profile or register.

How do I find out my Member ID number?

To find out your member number and your membership expiry date head to the Member Finder section of the Pickleball Australia website (<https://www.revolutionise.com.au/pickleballaus/member-finder/>).

When I try to register it says that my membership expires before the tournament commences and wants me to renew early!

That is true. When you register for the tournament, the system needs to ensure that you are a valid member during the tournament. But, just because it asks you to renew early, that doesn't mean that you lose months of membership. Your expiry date does not change. So even though you have to renew in January for a tournament, your expiry date of May does not shift and you won't be asked to renew again until May 2027.

What do I do if I don't have a partner to enter a tournament with?

You can still register for a tournament and choose 'partner required' when you register. You can also see who needs a partner within that tournament and you can reach out to them using the Pickleball Tournaments website.
